Over 3.2 million children die each year from malnutrition in sub-Saharan Africa. That is 9,000 every day! Many millions more fail to develop due to lack of food.

The sin of neglect is the failure to do what is known to be right, especially when it is something God has commanded. (James 4:17) In my Christian Faith, it's considered a deadly sin that can be as serious as intentional harm.

Dear Friends, Associates, Board Members, Blue Ribbon Committee Members, Consultants, and other readers:

To further advance our mission to raise the trade skill levels in Africa to world class standards, we are preparing to embark on our next lecture tour which will take us to West Africa, followed by Europe in the summer for a fund-raising trip. But first, I want to thank everyone who has come to support this work with their time, talent, and treasure. Without the support of many hearts, hands and minds, this mission would never succeed.

As I mention in this new lecture, I have always been somewhat of a dreamer. In my seventh decade on the planet, my ultimate dream is that our work will help save the 3.2 million young children who die each year from hunger in sub-Saharan Africa and save those who lose 600,000 of their mothers and grandmothers per year who die from inhalation of cooking smoke. As I explained in this new lecture, this possibility is becoming a hopeful reality with what we see coming to Africa in the next 10 years.

Please take time to enjoy this lecture at the YouTube link below. If you do, you will never see the world through the same eyes again.
